

AREA BUSINESS LEADER NAMED TO WOMEN OF DISTINCTION
Julie Gordon White honored for her commitment to the small business community and her industry

For Immediate Release

March 28, 2007

(Point Richmond, CA) – Julie Gordon White was selected as one of twenty-five Women of Distinction by the East Bay Business Times. The Women of Distinction awards honor the region's most prominent business women. Gordon White's strong business sense, contributions to her industry, involvement in her community and outreach to other women in business were factors that made her stand out above other nominees.

Gordon White's accomplishments include owning and operating BlueKey Business Brokerage M & A in Point Richmond California. She is also the founder of the Network of Women Business Brokers & Intermediaries with members across the U.S. and Canada. The mission of the network is to promote awareness of business brokerage as a career for professional women, to promote the importance of exit strategy planning for women business owners and to encourage co-brokering of deals with women business brokers members within the network. Gordon White is also a board member for the California Association of Business Brokers and is an active member of the International Business Brokers Association (IBBA).

Gordon White will be honored at the annual awards dinner on March 29th. Her biography will also be included in a special Women of Distinction publication in the March 30th East Bay Business Times.
